In the 2012 National Student Survey the department received student satisfaction ratings of 96% for Accounting and 94% for Finance.
To the Students of the Department of Accounting and Finance

The Department of Accounting and Finance is pleased to offer this Student Handbook to help guide you through some of the day-to-day issues involved in your education. Here you will find information with regard to our staff, facilities, policies, and procedures. This handbook can probably save you a great deal of time as it provides succinct information about how to go about getting things done, who to ask what questions, and a good idea of what is expected of students.

In addition to the guidance in this handbook, it is important to understand that each staff member within the Department is available to help you. You should talk with us when you have concerns, and you should feel free to talk with whatever member of staff you are most comfortable with. The worst thing you can do is to keep issues to yourself that are causing you difficulties. No matter what the difficulties are, we will do our best to help.

The handbook is not designed to deal with specific information about various degree requirements, courses, and assignments. That sort of detailed information is available in the Undergraduate Handbook, which you received at registration, and can be found online at http://www.strath.ac.uk/media/ps/sees/informationandadviceteam/student_handbook.pdf. This handbook is focused on aspects of student life in the Department. We have made it brief and to the point, sufficient enough to help you find your way around the Department and to know what to do should you have problems.

We hope you find this handbook useful but remember it is not a substitute for personal interaction between staff and students. Please talk to us at any time. We welcome your questions, ideas, and concerns.

All information provided in the handbook is correct at time of publishing and may be subject to revision.

This handbook is intended to serve as a guide for students in the Department of Accounting and Finance. The handbook provides information on the staff, the Department, the classes, and the facilities of the Department. It explains information and gives advice important in making your experience with us both simulating and pleasant. We have not included all of the information which you will require, but this handbook provides a useful guide and should refer you to the appropriate people who will be able to help you. Please keep this handbook for reference throughout your years with us. For full course details including class outlines please visit our website at www.strath.ac.uk/accfin/.

This handbook is not a guide to degree requirements. Information on those requirements is available in the University Calendar, the Undergraduate Handbook from registration and from the Directors of the various degree programmes within the Department. The Directors of the various degree programmes are listed in this handbook.

History of the Department

Business education at Strathclyde can be traced back to the 1800’s. Established in 1952, our Department first offered a degree course in Accountancy in 1964. Consequently, we offer Accounting as a principal subject on the Business School’s BA degree. In recent years, due to the growth in the financial services sector of the economy, we also developed Finance as a principal subject. In addition to principal subjects Accounting and Finance in the BA degree, the department also offers an MSc in Finance, MSc in International Accounting and Financial Studies, MSc in International Banking and Finance and an MSc in Investment and Finance for those who may wish to develop academic study of accounting and finance further in a one-year course. We also offer MPhil and PhD research degrees for those interested in academic and research careers. The Department provides a comprehensive set of programmes designed to meet the diverse needs of students embarking on careers in a global economy.

Message from the Head of Department

Welcome to the University of Strathclyde, Department of Accounting and Finance!

As a department we are committed to working with our students to ensure that we are doing everything we can to help you pursue your academic, intellectual and career aspirations. The department is also strongly committed to the production of high quality research. This means that you will be studying in a department in which your lecturers and tutors will be engaged in exploring the boundaries of accounting and finance.

I operate an open door policy so please feel free to come and discuss anything that the department can do to support your learning experience.

Best wishes for an enlightening, pleasurable and fulfilling experience at Strathclyde. I hope that you very much enjoy your time here.

Professor Krishna Paudyal, Head of Department
Speaking to the Right Person

It is frustrating when you need some information but get shuffled from one person to another. You can save yourself much of this frustration by carefully noting who the most appropriate person is to deal with your inquiries. If you have difficulty reaching members of staff, messages may be left in the Departmental Office (Tel: 0141 548 3261).

Location

The Department is located on the third and fourth floor of the Curran Building, 100 Cathedral Street. The Undergraduate Departmental Office is Room 3.56, and the telephone number is 0141 548 3261. All staff offices are located on the third and fourth floors. Office numbers and telephone extensions for all staff are provided in this handbook. All members of staff are available to meet students and discuss matters arising from classes in which they are involved. You will find the “Office Hours” of individual staff posted outside their doors. If you are having difficulty in contacting a member of staff you can check their availability and/or leave a message for them in the Departmental Office.

Facilities

We have one computer laboratory available for students (Room 334, Curran Building). Questions about the use of the computer lab should be addressed to Ms. Donna McDougall, Room 3.74, Curran Building, Tel: 0141 548 3832. Please check the lab notice board for opening hours as some classes take place in the lab during the semester.

General Enquiries

Katherine Duffy is the initial contact for all undergraduate students within the Department of Accounting and Finance and is available to assist students with any day to day queries. Katherine can supply you with class handouts, assignment submission forms, timetables, staff availability, etc. Some classes require you to purchase the class handouts from the online shop. If you are required to do so they are available to collect from Katherine.

There is a shelving system in the foyer of the department for students’ use. Any leftover handouts that have been given out will be available in these shelves. The shelves will be labeled to help you find the handouts for your classes. All classes can be found on MyPlace (http://classes.myplace.strath.ac.uk/) where students can find class information and handouts.

Coursework Submission Forms

These forms are available both in the shelving system in the foyer and in the Departmental Office. A form should be completed for every assignment you submit; there are separate forms for individual and group assignments. You will be issued with a receipt from this form which you must keep. Some classes may require online submission. Lecturers will provide more details in class. If you are unsure how to submit coursework please contact your class lecturer or the departmental office.

For advice on how to safely back-up your work, please see www.theguardian.com/education/2013/aug/01/students-how-to-back-up-your-work.

You are responsible for ensuring submission of your work on time. Losing your files, computer breakdowns etc. are not valid reasons for non-submission.

Late Submission Penalty

The Business School applies the following penalty scheme for late submission of assessed work:
• 1 day late deduct 5% of mark allocated
• 2 days late deduct 10% of mark allocated
• 3 days late deduct 20% of mark allocated
• 4 days late deduct 40% of mark allocated
• 5 days late deduct 80% of mark allocated
• After 5 days deduct 100% of mark allocated.

This applies only to weekdays where students submit in hard copy, but includes Saturdays and Sundays where students submit electronically.

Please check class outlines for more details on individual classes late submission penalties.

Non submission of coursework in any class will result in an overall mark of 0 being recorded on a Students record.

Academic Dishonesty
The University website (www.strath.ac.uk/staff/policies/academic) contains the full text of the University policy on `Dealing with instances of possible academic dishonesty by students’. Academic dishonesty includes cheating in written examinations, collusion, submitting the work of another person in the name of the student, falsification of data and plagiarism. Plagiarism means presenting someone else’s ideas or work as if they were your own. To protect yourself against inadvertent plagiarism you must be careful to acknowledge all source material used in writing essays and in preparing coursework projects. Lecturers may give specific instruction on how to reference sources; you must follow those instructions.

Counsellors and Advisers

Students are sometimes confused over the role of counsellors and advisers, and whether the counsellor and adviser is the same person. The distinction between them is that a counsellor is there to offer advice and support on matters which may be affecting your ability to effectively pursue your studies, e.g. domestic, medical, financial problems, etc. If need be they will put you in contact with the most suitable person in the Student Advisory Service.

However, counsellors are also advisers. By adviser we mean someone who is able to advise you on academic matters such as issues related to curriculum choice, and all other areas of teaching and learning. There are other persons who may be better suited to provide academic advice on teaching and learning. Therefore your first port of call on academic matters related to specific classes should be the class lecturer who will act as an adviser in this respect. On matters related to the overall academic programme in years 1-3 the adviser is the year’s 1-3 course director, and on matters related to the overall academic programme in the Honours year the adviser is the Honours course director.

Class Lecturer

The class lecturer can tell you everything you need to know about the classes for which they are responsible. If you are unsure who is responsible for a class then ask in the Departmental Office, Room 3.56. (Remember matters regarding timetabling, rooms, handouts, etc. can all be dealt with by the Departmental Office).

If the lecturer is not in, take note of the office hours posted outside the door, and return at one of those times. If your enquiry is urgent, and the lecturer is not available, then go to see the course director. If the course director is not available then go to the Departmental Office. The staff there will find someone to provide the assistance you need.

In the list below, you will find the names and numbers of staff members responsible for various aspects of communication with students.

Staff-Student Liaison Committee

The formal mechanism to generate discussion between students and staff on academic matters is the Staff-Student Liaison Committee. For each principal subject in each year of study there are at least two representatives on this Committee. Representatives are nominated early in the first semester. The committee meets at least once per semester to consider matters related to the organisation and conduct of classes, possible changes in classes and courses, library facilities, and student comments. You should let your class representatives know of any matters you wish to be raised and you might have some ideas to help us develop and improve our service to students. The minutes of the meetings are available to you and are also seen by the Head of Department and the Vice-Dean of the Business School. Where appropriate, matters raised through the Staff-Student Liaison Committee are pursued through the proper channels within the Department, the Business School, and the University. You should always discuss matters of concern with members of staff whenever you feel the quality of your education could be enhanced by more immediate action. You do not need to wait for the next Staff-Student Liaison Committee meeting.

If you are interested in being a student representative please email Katherine Duffy – k.duffy@strath.ac.uk.

Lectures

Most classes in years 1-3 of Accounting and Finance are conducted on the basis of lectures and tutorials. Students are expected to attend lectures regularly, and attendance at tutorials, laboratory sessions, and workshops is compulsory.

In year 4 there is a variety of approaches. You can find out more about the classes in 4th year from the honours guidance notes for Accounting and Finance. You can obtain copies of these from the departmental website: www.strath.ac.uk/accfin/currentundergraduatestudents/.

Please notify Student Business and the Department if you are affected by illness or any other problem which affects your attendance. There are university policies which must be followed if absences are to be excused. We can provide you with the relevant information to ensure that you comply with these policies.

Lectures provide an essential overview of class material, and it is essential to your success that you diligently study lecture material. There are often additional readings assigned that are equally important. Readings are required either from textbooks, journal articles, or other supplementary material. Your lecturer will inform you on how to obtain this material.

You may be asked to purchase textbooks; some material is available from the Departmental Office for collection; and some material is posted on the internet through the Department’s web pages or on MyPlace.

Tutorials and Workshops

Tutorials and workshops are an integral part of your studies. They provide the opportunity to learn in small groups and to develop particular skills in oral and written presentation, technology, and group interaction.

Attendance at tutorials is compulsory, as is completion of tutorial assignments in an acceptable manner.
Your lecturer will advise you of the particular ways in which tutorials and workshops will be organised.

Departmental policy on recommending ‘NQ’ (Not Qualified to Sit Examination):
Years 1 to 3 inclusive

The Department monitors attendance at tutorials by weekly returns of attendance sheets. The Department regards tutorials as a vital component of all courses. An email is sent by the Course Director after two tutorials are missed, warning of the consequences of continued absence. It invites the student to make contact with the Lecturer, Course Director or Departmental Office to discuss any problems. If the absence persists then a second email is sent after four tutorials are missed, asking the student to make an appointment to see the Course Director. If there is no improvement after this letter then the Course Director consults the Lecturer and takes a decision to issue an ‘NQ’ recommendation to Student Business. NQ decisions are issued before the end of week 8 to give the student an opportunity to present any mitigating circumstances.

If you are NQd for a class you will be notified by letter before the exam diet in question. An NQ is treated as a fail; you will normally be permitted to sit the exam as a resit, but your mark for the overall class will be capped at 40%.

Course Dates

Assessment dates for each year group can be found under “General Information” on the Departmental website: www.strath.ac.uk/acfin/currentundergraduatetstudents/. A paper copy can be collected from the main foyer in the Department. Students will be able to view examination timetables by logging into Pegasus: http://but.mis.strath.ac.uk/login/control/Login

Examinations

The majority of our classes are assessed with a combination of coursework and examinations. The nature of coursework and examinations varies and your lecturer will give you explicit details for each course. Final examinations are given during centrally prescribed periods in January and in May. The exact dates and times will be posted when they become known.

Please make sure you always check the examination timetable carefully, in plenty of time. You should make sure you note the date, time and location of all examinations you have to sit.

Most classes will have part of your assessment based on written and oral assignments, mid-term examinations, and other types of projects. Be sure that you take these assignments seriously, following closely the instructions given by your lecturer.

There are numerous programmes available to students in the University which can help you develop the necessary personal skills to perform well on these assignments.

Your examinations are thoroughly reviewed. The first stage is an internal review wherein each lecturer has his or her question paper reviewed by another member of staff. The two then meet to discuss the question paper and agree any changes necessary. The second stage is an external review. All papers are sent to an external examiner who checks the quality and fairness of the exams. After discussion with the external examiner, necessary changes will be made to the question paper.
The marking of exams involves your lecturer and a second marker. After that, any scripts which carry marks near the borderline are sent along with a sample of non-borderline scripts to the external examiner who reviews them. After discussion with the external examiner, marks are sometimes revised. Final decisions on student results are taken at exam boards at which staff and external examiners try to take account of relevant factors which may have influenced results. It is only after this extensive process of review that student marks will be submitted to Student Business to be placed on record.

Marking Scheme

The marking scheme which is used for all marks given for submitted work and examinations is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>MARK</th>
<th>MEANING</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>80 – 100</td>
<td>Outstanding</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70 - 79</td>
<td>Excellent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60 – 69</td>
<td>Very Good</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50 – 59</td>
<td>Satisfactory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40 – 49</td>
<td>Adequate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Below 40</td>
<td>Fail</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Re-sits of Exams

There is an opportunity to re-sit examinations in August each year. Normally, you will start with a clean sheet in re-sit examinations, i.e. previous assessed coursework is discounted and the re-sit exam counts for 100% of your final mark. There are no re-sits in the 4th year (Honours).

Assessment and Feedback

The assessment strategy of each class is designed to meet the learning outcomes of each class. Learning outcomes can be found on class outlines on the Department website: www.strath.ac.uk/acccfin/currentundergraduatestudents/. Each class provides a mixture of coursework assessment and final examination where appropriate. Feedback is designed according to the nature of the subject and method of teaching and learning of any specific class. The class lecturer will provide specific details on the assessment of the learning outcomes in each class and how feedback will operate. The class lecturer will explain the nature of the assessments used in the class and provide examples of good practice. The class lecturer will provide an overview of the criteria by which the assessment will be marked. This approach enables the student to clarify as to what is required in a specific assessment.

The Department seeks to provide students formal feedback from their coursework assessments. Normally this will be within three weeks of the submission date during the semester, excluding the holiday periods. The nature of the feedback will be appropriate to the coursework assessment. For example, where the assessment is a class test the feedback can be provided by going over the solutions to the class test in a lecture or a tutorial. For an essay or research project, feedback can be provided by a feedback form or written comments on the assignment. Students are welcome to discuss their coursework performance in more detail with their class lecturer through email or a face to face meeting. At an aggregate level, feedback is also be provided through class discussion on which parts of the assessment were done well by the class as a whole and those which were less well done and areas for improvement. With regards to exam performance, students are welcome to arrange to discuss their exam performance with the class lecturer after the event.
The Department provides a range of other feedback mechanisms throughout each class for students to assess how well they are progressing in their classes. Other feedback is provided through class tutorials and workshops as students seek to attempt the set questions. Feedback is provided through informal discussions with the class lecturers and tutors via email, phone, and face to face meetings. In terms of the Honours dissertation, students get detailed one to one feedback on work submitted, and any issues they may face in the completion of their dissertations.

Approach to Examinations and Assessments

Each of our students has the intellectual talent to perform well. Our admission standards guarantee this. Unfortunately, students sometimes perform less well than their talents would suggest. The most common reason for under-performance is lack of consistent study.

It is all too easy to put off reading, study and the completion of assignments, and the costs of such delays are extreme. Our classes are designed such that one topic leads to another. If you do not keep up, then you are likely to have difficulty with all of the remaining material in class.

A second reason for under-performance is poor study habits. These would include habits such as not reading material assigned, not taking extensive notes in lectures and not studying those notes after lectures; relying too much on “old” exams, and not talking with your lecturer, your tutor, and/or your classmates when you have difficulty understanding material.

A third reason for under-performance is the difficulty of managing your studies in the context of other aspects of your day to day life. We appreciate that you have personal and financial matters which may sometimes hinder your work. Please let us know if this becomes a problem. The staff will be happy to discuss such problems with you and to try and find a way to manage the difficulties. We cannot help, of course, unless you ask for such help. If your problems exceed our abilities to deal with them, we can refer you to student support agencies within the University who do have the expertise to deal with your problems.

We encourage you to work and study in groups. Other students are often struggling with the same problems of understanding, and talking through these problems is a very effective way of solving them.

Compensation

Each year, in order to progress to the next year of the course, you must pass 120 credits (normally all the classes which are on your curriculum).

If, at your first attempt, you have:
1. a weighted average of at least 45% (pass) across all your classes, and
2. class(es) totalling no more than 20 credits for which your mark is 30-39% (fail),

The failed class(es) will be deemed to have been passed by compensation. This will allow you to proceed to the next year of study. However, if you pass a first year class by compensation you will not normally be permitted to proceed with that subject in second year. If you pass a second or third year class by compensation, you will not normally be permitted to proceed to Honours in that subject.

If you have a weighted average of at least 45% (pass) across all your classes, and class(es) totalling more than 20 credits for which your mark is 30-39% (fail), only the class(es) with the highest mark(s) will be compensated.
Compulsory classes, such as the Management Development Programme and those in International Business, cannot be passed by compensation. In addition, some professional bodies (such as ICAS for Accounting) will not accept passes by compensation for certain classes. Departments should be able to provide you with more information about this.

If you do not pass all your classes at the first attempt, and are still unable to proceed after the above compensation scheme has been applied, you will be given one further attempt to pass the class, usually in the form of a resit exam. It is vital that you re-sit any failed class at the earliest opportunity: absences count as fails, and the School is under no obligation to offer further attempts. You should be prepared to sit the re-sit examination at Strathclyde during August (your results will normally be published in September).

If, after the compensation scheme has been applied and you have taken any resit exams, you have still not passed all classes, you will not normally be able to proceed to the next year of study.

If you would like to ‘correct’ a compensated pass – for example, if you have a compensated pass in a class for a subject you would like to study at Honours – you must re-sit the class in the normal way, usually at the August resit diet. If you do not do so, it will be assumed that you accept the compensated pass, and you will not be given a further opportunity to correct this.

Due to the different credit and marking schemes at our partner institutions, the compensation scheme will not be applied to any period of study abroad.

Student Life

Your university years provide a wonderful opportunity for pleasant social experiences. The department sponsors and supports a variety of student organisations.

These organisations offer a range of activities including presentations by corporate executives, parties, social functions, and sporting activities.

Meetings and other activities are posted on the message board inside the entrance to the Department, and the staff can put you in contact with the officers of these organisations.

The Department also has an Accounting and Finance Society that is responsible for running social events. If you would be interested in being part of the Society then please check out the Society Facebook page: Facebook page or email us: strathaccfin@googlemail.com.

Student Complaints

The guidelines and procedures for submitting complaints can be found at www.strath.ac.uk/staff/policies/academic/, along with information on appeals, discipline and personal circumstances.

Centre for Sport and Recreation

The Centre for Sport and Recreation offers all members of the University the opportunity to participate in physical activity as a means of achieving a healthier lifestyle, to develop new physical skills and to maintain or improve their sporting talents. The department is located in the Sports Centre on the John Anderson Campus at the top of John Street, very close to the Students’ Union.

Facilities include a twin court Sports Hall containing 6 badminton courts and facilities for all major indoor games; a separate activities room which houses fitness classes and a range of martial arts; 6 squash courts, a weight training room and a well-equipped cardiovascular fitness suite containing 70 exercise machines and personal weight training stations. In the Royal College Building, accessed from John Street, there is a 20yd x 10yd 4 lane swimming pool, above which is a traditional gymnasium. The University Playing Fields are sited at Stepps. Facilities include grass soccer and rugby pitches and a floodlit sand-dressed artificial turf hockey pitch.

The Centre offers a range of fitness classes, fitness testing, health and lifestyle consultations, weight and fitness room inductions, sports coaching classes, and swimming and lifesaving classes. The Centre also provides facilities for many of the Sports Clubs run through the Students Sports Union. The Centre co-ordinates the University/Glasgow City Council Sports Bursary programme for elite sportsmen and women and the Golf Scholarship Programme is currently supported by the R&A, details of which are available from the CSR Office or the website.

Counselling Service

This is a confidential service for UK undergraduate and postgraduate students at the University of Strathclyde, available at any time during your university career. We also offer personal counselling to International Students, although general advice and information is provided by the International Office.

Our Service may be a good place to start if you are experiencing difficulties which prevent you from making the most of yourself and the many opportunities which university offers.

Counselling

Counselling gives an opportunity to talk through any personal issue causing you concern. You will meet with a trained Counsellor who will not judge you or try to tell you what you should do. You may gain a greater understanding of how you are affected by your experiences and begin to feel life is more manageable; counselling may help you find resources to address the concerns you face.

Advice and Information

If you need information or advice about a particular difficulty an Adviser will help you look at the options relevant to your circumstances. Staff are experienced in responding to a wide range of issues and will also be able to refer you appropriately, if necessary.

As well as providing a general service, specific information and advice are offered on University procedures such as voluntary/academic suspension, examination appeals, course problems, and negotiation with departments.

There is a range of useful information and self-help leaflets on our website (see below).

Appointments and enquiries may be made in person, by telephone or by email:

The office also provides advice to students and others on queries in relation to fees, loans, bursaries etc. (Please note: there is a separate Adviser to International Students – Jim Wilson – whose office is based in the University’s International Office, Graham Hills Building).

The Student Financial Support Team office is located in the McCance Building, 2nd Floor (not to be confused with the main University Finance Office on the Ground Floor). Appointments can be made. However, feel free to drop in Monday to Friday, between 10:00am and 4:00pm.

We value the diversity of our students and support the development of mutual respect and positive relations between people.

The University has in place Equality Outcomes which meet the requirements the Equality Act 2010.

You are advised to familiarise yourself with the University approach on equality and diversity and relevant developments and information by visiting the website: www.strath.ac.uk/equalitydiversity/equalityinformationforstudents/

Students with Disabilities

The University is committed to providing an inclusive learning and working environment for disabled people.

If you have, or think you have, a disability we encourage you to disclose it as soon as possible. Declaring your disability will enable you to access any additional support that you may need and help to ensure you become a successful student. The information you provide will be treated as confidential and will not be shared with other staff without your consent.
The University has a dedicated Disability Service that offers specific advice, information and assistance to disabled students, including information on the Disabled Students Allowance (DSA). Further information is available from the website: www.strath.ac.uk/disabilityservice/

In addition, each academic Department/School has at least one Departmental Disability Contact (DDC), who acts as a first point of contact for disabled students. The Departmental Disability Contact list is available on the website at: www.strath.ac.uk/disabilityservice/ddc/

Please inform your course tutor, the DDC and a member of the Disability Service of your needs as soon as possible. The Disability Service will then formally communicate your needs to your Department/ School.

Issues with Physical Access on Campus

If you experience an issue with physical access anywhere on campus, please email: physicalaccess@strath.ac.uk where a member of Estates staff will be able to help.

Classroom Protocol

At the University we are committed to providing a safe learning environment where dignity is respected and discrimination or harassment does not occur on the basis of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation and socio-economic background. No student should intentionally be made to feel threatened or excluded from class participation.

You are reminded of your responsibility for the duration of your studies by showing respect to fellow classmates and staff by remembering the following protocol:

- Attend all scheduled lectures/ seminars and/ or practical sessions such as labs, including any additional learning and teaching sessions.
- Arrive on time and remain in class until the end of the session. If you need to leave early for any reason, please notify the tutor at the beginning or prior to the class.
- Do not disrupt the class by habitually coming in late or coming and going from the classroom during the session. Students arriving late, without justified reasons, may be refused entry.
- Refrain from consistently interrupting another speaker and listen to the ideas of others with respect. Do not be rude or make personal attacks on individuals during group discussions.
- Inform and establish consent of the tutor if you wish to record the lecture. The recording must be used only for personal study.
- Do not bring food into the classroom, other than for medical reasons, e.g. diabetes. Beverages may be permissible at the tutor’s discretion if the room utilisation rules allow.
- Inform tutors of specific requirements for example the need to perform prayers for practising students of diverse faiths.
• Seek consent of students and staff before taking any photos in the classroom.

• At any course related external visit you are acting as ambassadors of the University and are reminded to act as such.

• Refrain from smoking on premises as this is prohibited in all University buildings.

• Follow emergency instructions and health and safety procedures.

• Should you have any concerns please bring them to the attention of your tutor and/or appropriate University staff.

Student Health Service

The Student Health Service (SHS) offers clinics for the diagnosis and management of treatable disorders and, when necessary, referral to an appropriate specialist. The Service is located on level 1 in Livingstone Tower and appointments can be arranged by students themselves or, on their behalf, by their family doctor or a member of the staff. Health information is available at the Department for a wide range of health issues and this can be accessed at the reception.

It is important that all students register with a family doctor (GP). Please note also that the Student Health Service is not a 24-hour, emergency service. Medical emergencies should be referred to the University Security Services (phone 0141 548 2222 or dial 2222 from internal phones) whose staff are trained in first-aid and can, if required, contact the emergency services.

The Chaplaincy

Our Chaplaincy Centre seeks to offer sanctuary and hospitality to those of all faiths and none. We aim to be a place apart from the busyness of University life. There is space here to come together in prayer or quiet meditation and to enjoy light refreshments in the Ark Cafe. The social space allows for students and staff alike to catch-up with one another, with work or study, or simply relax and take timeout.

The Chaplaincy Centre seeks to be a place of acceptance and welcome where we can explore, question and share our beliefs in an atmosphere of respect and trust, and find creative ways of working and learning together.

The University has a full-time Chaplain, David T. Young, who can be found either within the Chaplaincy Centre or around the campus (usually looking lost!). David is only too happy to hear from students and staff and can be contacted by email or telephone.

All are welcome to use the Chaplaincy Centre - feel free to drop in or make it your base. We'd be only too happy to see you.

Mental Health

Students with mental health conditions and concerns can choose from several support services when seeking assistance, depending on the nature of the support being sought. The Student Advisory and Counselling Service, the Student Health Service, the Chaplaincy and the Adviser to International Students all provide advice and support to students with mental health concerns. The Disability Service can discuss the possible impact of mental health conditions on students’ studies and, in some cases, help to arrange personal and financial support. For further information, please feel free to contact any of the above services.

Race Equality Policy

The University of Strathclyde believes strongly in the principle of equal treatment between persons irrespective of racial or ethnic origin and values and recognises that a diverse staff and student group contributes to its continued achievement of excellence in teaching and research.

Discrimination on grounds of race is unacceptable, and everyone who has the ability and the desire to pursue education should have the chance to do so regardless of their race.

The University’s Race Equality Policy forms part of the University’s policy on equal opportunities for staff and students, and sets out our aims to tackle racial discrimination and take active steps to promote equality of opportunity and good race relations among its staff and students and members of the public who come in contact with the institution.

The Race Equality Policy is available on the University’s web-site at: http://www.strath.ac.uk/staff/policies/eqdiv/raceequalitypolicy/

Student Personal Development Planning (SPDP)

In your Management Development Programme (MDP) classes you will receive advice on how to plan, recognise and record your personal development as you progress through your degree programme. Your classes in Accounting and Finance will provide opportunities for you to develop skills in the subject and general skills for personal development. These skills are set out as ‘Learning Outcomes’ in the Class Outline for each class you take in this Department. You will find that thinking about the achievement of learning outcomes in each of your classes will help you with the co-ordinating activities of SPDP in the MDP.
