

MSc Health and Care Leadership

OVERVIEW

The COVID 19 pandemic has had a profound impact on the health and care sector across the globe. Lessons learnt point to a new post-covid reality in which a multi-professional workforce, working in partnership across technology-enabled environments, can deliver excellence and high value service-user and patient centred outcomes.

Our MSc in Health and Care Leadership is a unique, interdisciplinary programme that draws on the depth and breadth of expertise across the University of Strathclyde and our extensive networks of experts and practitioners to support the development of the leadership capabilities necessary to navigate this new reality. You will learn from internationally recognised faculty at the forefront of knowledge and research in their field through our programme of applied, blended learning.

For both aspiring and senior leaders, you will have the opportunity to study the core disciplines and skills needed to lead in complex health and care systems and turbulent environments, enabling you to develop a career at the highest level in the health and care sector.

PROGRAMME FEATURES

Interdisciplinary expertise

Access leading edge thinking from faculty across the university and our professional networks

International perspectives

Explore global and regional similarities and differences across the sector

Applied, experiential learning

Learn face to face and through digital learning via a dedicated e-learning site and benefit from our practical approach to design and delivery

Peer to peer learning networks

Learn with and from your peers through facilitated action learning sets that run through your programme

Academic mentoring

Work with an academic mentor to help you individualise and embed your learning into your leadership practice and context

Flexible format

Personalise your learning journey and study at a pace that works for you to undertake the full Master's or exit with a Pg Certificate or Pg Diploma

THE PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

Who the Programme is for:

Our programme is suitable for both established and aspiring leaders looking to lead complex services, departments, programmes and systems. This includes clinical and nurse leaders across any speciality, allied healthcare professionals, service managers and other non-clinical leaders across the health and care sector, including the third sector.

Academic requirements:

An honours degree or equivalent. Entry may be possible with other qualifications provided there is evidence of relevant experience and the ability to study at an advanced level.

HOW TO APPLY

Whether you are an individual or an organisation wanting to develop your leaders, take your first steps and find out more.

Get in touch:

Arrange a personal consultation with the Programme Director to ensure the programme is right for you. e-mail: sbs-hcl@strath.ac.uk

Fees:

Contact us for further information on how you can benefit from our flexible programme format and payment plan.

Visit our website:

Look up the MSc Health and Care Leadership under our Post-Graduate taught courses:
www.strath.ac.uk/workwithus/healthcarefutures/futureorganisation/