

Accessing your Network Drives (H: and i: drive) on Ubuntu

Instructions for on-campus, or using VPN off-campus

If you are off-campus, then begin by connecting to the Forticlient VPN. Once you're connected, follow the on-campus instructions below :

You can connect to the network drives using a protocol called "SMB" : this may also be referred to as "CIFS". Different flavours of Unix/Linux have different ways of connecting over SMB/CIFS. Your departmental/Faculty IT support may also have guidelines on the best way to connect over SMB/CIFS, so you should also check with them. The instructions here are based on Ubuntu.

Select Files from the Ubuntu desktop. In the box that opens select Connect to Server.

Enter the Server Address for the drive you want to connect to.

For your H: Drive, enter the address in the form below;

smb://ds.strath.ac.uk/hdrive/ last two digits of your username / username.

Example;

smb://ds.strath.ac.uk/hdrive/17/efa18617

Select Connect.

Or, for your i: Drive, enter the below address;

smb://ds.strath.ac.uk/idrive

Or, for your L Drive, enter the below address;

smb://ds.strath.ac.uk/ldrive
